

Akamai University provides access to a quality educational experience which occurs exclusively through mentored distance learning and cross-border residential seminars.

Akamai Model of Education

The delivery of distance education at Akamai University relies heavily upon innovative instructional models which include:

- One-to-one mentorship
- Student responsibility
- Autonomy in learning
- Individualization of study
- An active learning process
- Project-oriented learning

Accreditation Status

Akamai is accredited by the International Distance Education Accreditation League (IDEAL), a member of the National Network of Quality Assurance Agencies (NNQAA), a recognized network of accrediting bodies in the Philippines. IDEAL is authorized to accredit colleges and universities, which conduct distance education and cross-border degree programs. Akamai is a full member of the IDEAL association and the Akamai President has been elected as a member of the IDEAL Board of Directors and a Trustee with NNQAA.

Akamai is not accredited by an accrediting agency or association recognized by the US Department of Education. Before undertaking any program of studies in higher education or training, Akamai University strongly advises interested applicants to consult with licensing authorities, professional associations, colleges and universities, and prospective employers to determine with clarity if the desired degree program will meet their professional requirements.
